

FOUR KILLED, 40 HURT IN EXPLOSION

Jersey City Fireworks Plant Wrecked—Blast Heard for Miles.

WORKMEN VICTIMS BLOWN TO PIECES

Carelessness Blamed for Disaster Imperilling Several Hundred.

WOMEN AND GIRLS AMONG INJURED

Mystery Hides Direct Cause of Accident—Big Damage Is Wrought in Section.

The inevitable feature of the manufacture of fireworks cost the lives yesterday of four employees of the Detwiler & Street Fireworks Company, between Woodlawn av. and the Morris Canal, Greenville, Jersey City. The explosion in the drying building destroyed that brick structure and two others, injured about forty men and girls, shattered innumerable windows near to and distant from the factory, and sent a shock throughout that section of New Jersey, Staten Island and the lower part of Manhattan.

The dead are:

Kinner, Michael T., thirty-one; 535 Randolph av.

Koehn, August, thirty-three; Fulton st. and Bergen av.

Pfeiffer, Christopher, fifty-five; 70 Bergen av.

Zimmerman, Matthew, thirty-seven; 50 Ross st.

John Wolf, twenty-nine, of 351 West Side av., was the only person to remain in the City Hospital after first treatment. He is so severely injured his condition is critical.

The attitude of representatives of the company made it difficult to gain any information as to the probable cause of the explosion, and the failure of the police to gain a clear idea of what had happened hurried Frank Hague, Director of Public Safety, to the scene. After brief, pointed questioning he ordered the arrest of John Andreas, superintendent, on the charge of manslaughter.

By order of Corporation Counsel John Milton the charge was later changed to one of criminal carelessness.

Probe Cause of Accident.

Mr. Hague said he gained the admission from Andreas that carelessness was responsible. The Director of Public Safety was busy last night seeking to learn whether that carelessness was on the part of some one whose error might as easily have brought death or injury to scores of others of the 500 men and girls who toil in that dangerous atmosphere and imperilled the lives and property of many who live and work close to the plant.

Fifty-one buildings make up the factory of the fireworks company, a New York State corporation and a subsidiary of the Central Fireworks Company, with the main office in the Woolworth Building. Edward B. Candee is president.

The structures are small and about fifty feet from each other. Mostly, they are of brick and, it is said, asbestos lined.

Apparently, Pfeiffer, Koehn and Zimmerman were in the drying shed, engaged in the hazardous occupation of drying the firecracker composition on paper trays, when the blowup came. Kinner, it is thought, was making for the drying shed from one of the two weighing sheds that flank the drying shed. In both weighing sheds several men were at work.

The explosion was so tremendous it was impossible to compare by compass the distance of the blast. The fronting wall of a frame building just outside the Detwiler & Street property crashed V-shaped inward and windows all over the Greenville section broke simultaneously.

Oddly, the explosion seemed to

20,000 MEN BUSY ON TRACTION WORK

Contracts Let for 59 of 83 Sections of Dual System— Big Sums Spent.

September reports to the Public Service Commission show that there are 17,000 men employed in construction work on the dual system subway and elevated railroad contracts, 3,000 by contractors building elevated extensions and additions to be owned by the company.

Contracts for fifty-nine of the eighty-three sections into which the dual system work is divided have already been let, thirty-two on lines operated by the Interborough and twenty-eight on lines to be operated by the New York Municipal Railway Corporation. The expenditure aggregates $140,616,385.88, divided between the two companies as follows: Interborough, $69,162,918.84; New York Municipal, $71,453,467.04. Toward the total cost the latter contributes $13,500,000 and the Interborough $58,953,467.

Of the approximately eighty miles of new city owned lines fifty are under construction.

Bids will be opened Tuesday for the diagonal station and the Friday Park Place station. It is expected that bids will be asked within a short time for the remaining sections of the Broadway subway and the East River Parkway subway. All the Broadway line except that from 38th to 59th st. is under construction.

Contractors recently have begun work on the two proposed East River tunnels. The latter have a length of 1,200 feet, and are being constructed for temporary operation.

Quake Shakes Martinique.

Fort de France, Martinique, Oct. 3.—A strong earthquake shock was experienced here at 1:15 p. m. yesterday. The direction was from north to south and the tremors lasted thirty seconds. No damage was done.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, Oct. 3.—A prolonged earthquake was felt about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon throughout the Windward and Leeward Islands. It was especially severe at Antigua, Guadalupe, Dominica, St. Lucia and St. Vincent. No details of any damage have been received.

Heavy Damage by Blast.

Men, bricks and frame roofs in splintered planks were whirled from the ground and workers in the nearby buildings were turned in circles and hurled to the ground. The fronting wall of a frame building just outside the Detwiler & Street property crashed V-shaped inward and windows all over the Greenville section broke simultaneously.

Oddly, the explosion seemed to

Dancing Carnival

GRAND CENTRAL PALACE

Has been moved to the Fourth Floor, which enlarges the space to 44,000 square feet. Hundreds of additional white birch trees have been added to the decorations.

150 Lady and Gentlemen Instructors to teach you any of the new dances privately and individually. Not a class lesson. We furnish every one of our pupils with their own individual instructors, and positively assure you that we teach dancing correctly and quickly.

Floor Lessons, 25c per half hour.
Private Lessons, in a Strictly Private Room, 50c per half hour.

Dancing every afternoon from 2 P. M. to midnight, including Sundays. No liquor sold.

Prof. ALBERT DE COMMERCE in charge of our Fox, Ballet, Classic, Fancy Exhibition and All Modern Stage Dancing.

Children's Class Wednesday and Saturday from 4 to 6 P. M.
Adults' Class Wednesday and Saturday from 4 to 10 P. M.
Class lessons 25c per hour. Private lessons by appointment.
Pamphlet entitled "Dances for Dancers" mailed free upon request. Address

DANCING CARNIVAL

Grand Central Palace, Lexington Avenue

Use 46th Street Entrance

WOMEN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH

Mae Sullivan Silent Before Referee, but Determined to Seek Damages.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, in whose suits for breach of promise to marry and breach of contract to provide for her support against Arthur I. Hoe the jury disagreed, has by no means abandoned her intention of making the young man settle with her, though she is now without a guardian and her counsel at the first trial, M. L. Towns, has withdrawn as counsel of record.

Miss Sullivan appeared before W. S. Taft, sitting as referee to hear her, to see the "Dear Pinky" letter which was found on Eaton. The letter demanded money from "Pinky," which she said she would never receive unless the money was paid. Because they had not cleared up the case the police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go. The police refused to let her go.

At yesterday's appearance before Mr. Taft she was represented by Warren McConnaughey, of 22 Broadway.

In these circumstances the referee had no choice but to adjourn the hearing, setting the date of the next attempt to get Miss Sullivan to answer questions for October 8.

WOMAN TO FIGHT HOE TO A FINISH